

FIRST HAIR CUT FOR FIRST BABY

Pictures by Curt's Studio

Young Richard (Ricky) Delane, first baby born in the Drayton Valley Hospital is getting his first haircut. Richard was born on August 8th, 1958, on the first day the brand new hospital got its official opening. As the first baby born in the new hospital, Richards' parents became the recipients of a number of merchandise vouchers from Drayton Valley merchants and businessmen. Among these were haircuts at Henry's Barbershop, the first of which is being received.

Mrs. Delane reported that, as the mother of the first baby born in the new hospital, she was treated like royalty. The picture to left shows Ricky in the age of exactly 10 months, just before he got his first haircut, and the one on the right shows the haircut under way. Apparently the young lad was just a little apprehensive about the hair cutting operation but he will soon learn to take it all in stride. The Delanes were quite glad to get a boy when Ricky was born. Their two previous children were girls, and they had promised Grandpa before he passed away a little over a year ago that they would have a boy, and Nature took care of the promise for them.

ford and then was demonstrator in Anatomy at Dugham University, following which he was Traveling Chairman of the Medical Board, under the National Health Insurance Plan.

In 1946, Dr. Waugh married Miss Catherine Smith of Edinburgh, following which he was Traveling Chairman of the Medical Board, under the National Health Insurance Plan. Mrs. Waugh's father, Dr. Smith, was well-known in British medical circles as Dean of Edinburgh Medical School, a position he held for many years. Mrs. Waugh qualified for medical practice in 1944. She is not practicing as present, until their family is grown. They have three sons: Neil, aged 11, and the twins, Alastair and Alison, aged 8; all three children are now attending Drayton Valley School.

In 1952, feeling that Canada was the country of the future, they came to Canada and located on the Coast Branch. They left Marcola this summer to make their home in Drayton Valley. Dr. Waugh's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Waugh Sr. have moved to Drayton Valley from Marcola also. They purchased the former Burke house here. Dr. Waugh Sr. will be associated with Dr. Ian Waugh in medical practice here; he will be doing surgical work.

Mrs. Burn Conger, who was secretary to Dr. Waugh in his former practice, came here with the family and will remain in the care of the office, for the time being. Dr. Waugh plans to begin his medical practice next week, if the office is ready by then.

FAREWELL FOR BOWMANS
Friends and fellow Mohit-hands of Gordon Bowman got together in the Elks Community Hall recently to give Mr. and Mrs. Bowman a rousing farewell party. Music for the occasion was supplied by the Bowmans. As a farewell to his many friends, Gordon gave his own rendition of "O Dem Dry Bones". At the close of the get-together, the very popular couple was given a purse of money as a farewell gift. Back on the job for Northwestman Utilities is Leo McKernan, company agent in Drayton Valley. the Snapshot Guild

Picnicking is a touring Canadian custom with hot dogs and portable equipment and cameras to record the hours of fun. Family Picnics Provide Snapshot Subjects

There is nothing like a long weekend to enable camera owners to get good mileage out of cameras. We have several three-day weekends during the summer to take advantage of the opportunity. We are fortunate that, with few exceptions, most of us are reasonably close to attractive spots for week-end family picnics where the children can romp and play in the wide open spaces while Mom and Dad relax in the sun or shade. It will add to the fun and enjoyment if you bring your camera and lots of film. There's a barrel of fun in the actual picture-taking with more to follow when you see the results. Pictures taken on such a week-end make interesting records of family life during the years when their members are still together.

Suppose your next week-end outing includes some fishing. The snapshots could start with your search for dew worms or other bait followed by a shot as you examine your fishing tackle. There's another good shot as you place it and the lunch basket in the boat. There'll be some excitement when you hook a fish and brought in, so have the camera ready for a picture that shows

It being netted at the side of the boat. One of the finest pictures you can shoot is when one of the youngsters gets a bite. Even if the fish are not biting that day, you can still record the keen sense of anticipation on Junior's face as he waits for his first strike.

There will be many opportunities for other snapshots, especially if this is to be a full day's fishing and you go ashore for lunch. Here are shots galore—making a fire, boiling the kettle, cleaning and frying the freshly-caught fish (if any) and then, the after-lunch snooze until the day cools a little and the fish begin biting again. One excellent picture you can also take will help your children to remember the need for being careful of forest fires. Have one of the adults take a shot of you showing the youngsters how to put out a picnic fire.

You finish the day with some shots of the day's catch and, later on, some bonfire scenes you can glory over and show to your friends. That will be fun to see and show when summer is done and its activities are but a memory.

"HONESTY"

This week's contribution to the series by local Church leaders is presented by the Reverend Fr. Scriver of St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

To be sincere means to be honest with oneself and with others; to be actually what you are in appearance; to be without guile or deceit. Trickery, hypocrisy or putting on false sides and fronts are all unknown to a sincere soul. An old legend relates that the Queen of Sheba once brought two bouquets to King Solomon, one of natural flowers, the other of artificial blossoms so beautifully formed that few could tell the difference. The wise king ordered the window thrown open before he would choose between them. A few petals on the natural bouquet. Like bees, men are attracted to the genuine article. As ancient builders demanded that the materials that they used be genuine to society demand sincerity in every individual.

In this sense even the unchristian world is Christian. Above all things Christ demanded sincerity in His followers. He turned His wrath on insincerity. He could not find words strong enough to brand that abhorrent of habits, hypocrisy.

Christ had many reasons to hate what was false. He suffered from false prophecies, false witnesses, false friends and false reports. Once He reminded the Pharisees of the Law of God, "Thou shalt not have a father and mother" and the Jews' practice of avoiding that law by making it void by giving to the temple what should have gone to support of parents. The Pharisees had established a custom among them to become rich by exempting children from giving any further assistance to their parents, if the children once offered to the temple and to officers, that which should have gone to the support of their parents. This violation of God's Law, Christ condemned.

He denounces while hearts' honesty and the balance left for club parties. The additional fee of 10¢ per person will be paid for the parties. No additional fee will be charged for the parties. (carried)

GREEN ACRES

GROWING LEGUMES

Most farmers in this area seed alfalfa through the use of chemical forage crops with a nurse crop. Alfalfa and butyric forms of crop of trials. One of the reasons 2-4-D and MCPA have provided to provide competition for satisfactory control of lamb's quarters, and thus the nurse crop, alfalfa, wild mustard and weeds. In this district we have seen the weeds, and a stronger and efficient results from seeding with more quickly established stand of a nurse crop—alfalfa the field results.

words from 1957 young legume crops. Sweet clover, however, has proved much more sensitive to herbicides, and should be sprayed only where seed competition is very high. In this event, MCPA amines at 3 to 4 ounces per acre is suggested.

Comparison of the action of the more recently developed butyric acids shows the butyric 4-(MCPB) and 4-(2-4-DB) effective against the same weeds as the acetate MCPA and 2-4-D. Seeding alfalfa shows considerably higher tolerance to 4-(2-4-DB) than to the acetate 2-4-D. On seedling alfalfa, 24 to 32 ounces of 4-(2-4-DB) can be used with little or no observable injury to the alfalfa, while four to five ounces of 2-4-D amine is as much as can be safely applied. For the clovers, other than sweet clover, 4-(MCPB) at 16 to 24 ounces per acre is suggested. For alfalfa, 4-(2-4-DB) of the same rate may be used effectively. Neither 2-4-D nor MCPA amines should be used on a nurse crop—alfalfa the field results.

While alfalfa and the clovers are affected by their high doses of butyric acids the wood sorrel, similar or very little better than with low doses of 2-4-D or MCPA. The least effective butyric dose is 16 ounces per acre compared with a high of 4 or 5 ounces of the acetate. Since the butyric acids are more expensive and about four times as much material is required, cost can be a deciding factor in comparing the two.

"To The Memory"

To the memory of the little boy with the golden ringlets and the bright dancing eyes, we bow our heads and say a prayerful "thank you". Our lives were enriched by his cheerfulness and his courage. Even the he suffered great pain for nearly two years, he was a happy child and his gay and cheering "Hello, I am fine today," gave all of us who knew him, a reason to hope and pray that he would be spared. We all prayed that this little boy, who could be a future Premier or a leader of men, be allowed to live a long life, but God does not enter into bargains as His plan for us are not known, so little Johnny Salash had fulfilled his purpose in this human life and was returned to the loving arms of the Heavenly Father. We grieve with and for his parents, Carl and Alice Salash, who had to watch this little golden boy slip gradually away. We hope their grief is eased by knowing that Johnny, in his short four years, was able to do so much, especially, for the rest of us. We will always remember him and in the future we will make our contributions generously and unselfishly for the research into the field of leukemia so that some other golden haired child will not have to suffer as Johnny did and can be cured.

"Sleep well, and Sweet Dreams little Golden Prince."

Letter From the Editor :-

This issue of September 17 of the Pambia News Advertiser marks the fifth edition printed since the changeover in size, format and method of distribution. We are encouraged with the reception the new paper has had, thus far. A change was necessary to keep up with the growth of the town. The new method of printing cost considerably more than the former method cost each week to publish the paper. However, eventually we will save considerably on the cost of postage, as the former method of distribution, free through to you through the post-office, certainly was not FREE to us, as it cost us over $1,000 each year to put them through the post office like that. (each copy cost us 1 1/2 cents to deliver through the post office.)

At present we have seven delivery boys covering the Town of Drayton Valley and the district west of the main highway. In the very near future we will publish a sectionalized map of the town, with each of the delivery boys names listed for each section. Should you not be getting your paper from the delivery boys please let us know. The paper is delivered to your door on Thursday evening. The cost is 10¢ per copy, of which the delivery boy gets 4¢. (Some of the boys can make as much delivering papers for us one night a week as they make with certain other papers six nights per week) should you desire a subscription, you can get it from the P.N.A. office or from the Editor, personally. Cost of subscriptions for one year is $3.00. If it goes out of Canada it is $3.50 per year. The paper will get larger in the near future.

Price for subscriptions for all Old Age pensioners is half price, or $1.50 per year. Clergy rates are $1.50 also.

Mr. Smith: "Yes, wife used to be so nervous. Now she seems quite cured."
Mr. Brown: "Yes, and it was so easy. The doctor simply told her it was a sign of old age."

Food for thought By: Danita Boling.

The world is all eyes and ears and tense with anticipation this week, as this is when Mr. Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower meet in the U.S.A. and will attempt to reconcile the differences between the Western Powers and those of the Communist countries. Whether the meeting is a wise one or not, is beyond my ability to judge, but I am hoping and praying that these men, who are representing two great nations will find a means of communication that will lead to Peace! It is so easy to say that the people of all nations want peace but history has proven that wanting peace and having it are two different things. The masses of people have to follow the dictates of their leaders whether the leader has been chosen by popular vote or is self appointed. We do believe, however, that in a democracy the opinion of the people is important and our leaders are obligated to us. Most of us want war and yet we know that too much appeasement can destroy our way of life. I do not envy these men who must be responsible for the outcome of our future. When the common meeting ground will be, is hard to decide. On one hand are men who have a deep and abiding trust and faith in God and who are bound by His teachings of truth and honesty. On the other hand is a man representing a Country that sponsors and encourages atheism, so the principles of reasoning are far apart. How can we put our trust into our deeds and teach an understanding with those who have no creed? To me, all of this is more important than any of the political aspects. Political and economical problems have often been solved thru the art of diplomacy can handle. The world is beginning to show the effects of the uncertainty of existence. How many, many years has it not been the newspapers did not have to fill their pages with the news of antagonism among nations, small or large? The word "Peace", as a worldwide expression, has become practically extinct. The choice now, that has to be made by our leaders is for complete oblivion or peace. Doesn't that thought trouble you and make you shudder? There is no alternate route and the rest of us must sit and wonder about our future while a few men decide our destiny for us. I have always believed that if the women of this world could get together, there would be no war! I refuse to believe that the women of any nation can be mesmerized enough to deaden their feminine hearts. I am sure that even Mrs. Khrushchev must have a certain amount of compassion in her heart and a cold slay fear of war! In that large and great land of Russia it must be possible to expand and prosper without expanding into other areas by force. Each country is entitled to its own choice of government and a democracy is very different than a dictatorship but man should be privileged to live by his own decision of government. The major question is whether we can retain that choice in the world and allow others to do the same. The restoration of differences is the measure of civilization, and in plain English that means, "to live and let live". I pray, at this time of decision, for the proper guidance of all leaders in our world and that they be given the insight and insight to please us from the weight and burden of the past and future. If the aim for peace is not accomplished soon, I am afraid the earth will be left spinning in the Universe, unbalanced and a fiery memorial to man's greed and lust for power! If you would like a rather tasty

YELLOWED NYLON
With all the wonders of nylon and other synthetic fabrics, the problem of nylon turning yellow still seems to be one of prime concern.

First of all, to prevent yellowing the following suggestions may be helpful.

1. Thorough washing is a must, preferably in a machine if construction of your present permitts and using a heavy duty soap or synthetic detergent. Sometimes the "easy making" is overdone.
2. Thorough rinsing is equally important, to remove every trace of soda or soap particles. If left in, there may cause discoloration of the fabric. Soap residue may be the result of persistent due to hard water and if this is the case, use of water softeners will help.

h is your candy dish then you can enjoy this recipe.

Spiced Walnuts
1 cup sugar; 1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup water; 1 lb. shelled walnuts halves

Mix all the ingredients in a skillet, except the walnuts, and bring to a slow boil for 4 or 5 min. Add the walnuts to the mixture and stir them around in the skillet until they are well coated with the syrup. Lay out on waxed paper in cool and harden.

2. Wash while only with other whites. Nylon will "attract" color, even from pastels and it will show up as gray or yellow. Sometimes bleach can be used effectively for yellowing from this cause.

If while nylon garments have become so discolored that ordinary washing and bleaching will not restore whiteness, the following method will make them look fresh and white. Many garments may not need all the steps for satisfactory results, but it is important to follow steps in the order given. This is recommended by one of the manufacturers.

1. Wash the garments thoroughly with soap or synthetic detergent.

2. Add one package of "Color Remover" (sold by dye manufacturers) to about one gallon of hot water (180° F) in an enamel container and immediately put in the garments. Stir the garments gently while maintaining the temperature (temperatures in excess of that may set wrinkles which are difficult to remove). If whiteness is restored evenly after 30 minutes, remove the garments and rinse them thoroughly in hot water. If whiteness is not restored, leave them an additional 30 minutes.

3. Into about one gallon of water add 2 tablespoons "Gleam" and 2 cups detergent. Soak for about 30 minutes and rinse thoroughly.
4. For the final rinse, immerse the garments in about a gallon of warm water containing a tablespoon of an optical whitener such as "Pro-Nyl", "Nylone" etc.

Here and There

In a restaurant in Edmonton recently we ordered a cup of coffee; the girl behind the counter asked, "Medium or strong, sir?" We replied, "Well, I don't think that question has ever been asked us before in a restaurant, so I hardly knew how to answer it. After all we're just a poor country boy from Drayton Valley." "Well, sir," replied the girl, "We'll make it medium." To the rumpled knave and waited while a cup of Medium Coffee slowly trickled out into our cup. We watched the process with some interest, as apparently it keeps the one girl practically full time to make the coffee to order. With urgent too, we waited for the bill, wondering what all the personalities service would do to the price of coffee. But when we got the bill it proved to be the well-known and popular price.....10¢.

'COPTER BRINGS INJURED MAN TO HOSPITAL

Spartan Air Services helicopter was put into service to bring an injured man from the site of the Brazeau Dam to the Drayton Valley Municipal Hospital. The helicopter landed just in front of the hospital and in the picture may be seen Dr. McLure and Dr. Brooks, with some of the nursing staff, as they placed the injured man on a stretcher before taking him into the hospital.

The injured man, Bob Ericson, was employed with Poole Construction Company, who are doing preliminary work at the dam site. Five of the 'copter was field launch, of Spartan Air Services; accompanying him on the trip was R. Bennett, office manager for Poole Construction at the dam site camp. The helicopter had been engaged for a few days at the dam site and so was readily available when the emergency call came in to remove Mr. Ericson to Drayton Valley for hospitalization.

Boy Scouts Association Fund Raising Campaign

Much needed repairs were recently completed on the Drayton Valley Scout Hall by MacCaird Construction Company. The outside covering of the walls was removed and the building was insulated and other necessary repairs were done. This was work which was urgently needed, otherwise the building might have become unfit for use in a year or so.

Total cost of the remodeling was $1,800. Of this amount some $400 has been paid off by donations and some money the Scout Association had on hand, leaving a balance of $1400, yet to be paid off. The Scout Association plans on putting on a Fund Raising Campaign by mail to cover the remainder of the cost of the repair work done on Scout Hall. (Cont. page 7)
